

Victorian Ephemera

Please enjoy this original Valentine Calling Card copied from my own collection. Calling cards were the custom of every elegant lady and gentleman in Victorian times. Created using chromolithography; a process where a different plate was used for each color. This colorful piece is the decorative top of a "hidden name" card; as it was attached on top of another to be lifted with the owners name revealed. Each design also carried a hidden meaning; if I were to guess I would say this one says "I offer my true love that you will forget me not" But feel free to create your own! Enjoy

Directions:
Print and-cut along the blue lines-fold on the black.
Insert your own secret Valentine note.
